

Attention: Future Gaming Market Project

Poker machine addiction leads to poverty, child neglect, family violence, mental ill health, imprisonment and suicide. Those are the tragic, undisputed facts.

It is well known, researched and documented that the human impact of poker machines are extensive. From an economic point of view the returns to the State do not compensate for the damages and costs.

It is documented how they can cost people their lives, and how removing them from communities would lower the rate of gambling addiction.

The gaming machines must only be available in casinos, and be removed from all pubs and clubs.
