

Tasmanian Gambling Exclusion Scheme

Personal Information Protection Statement

- The Tasmanian Gambling Exclusion Scheme requires that you supply information that will help identify you in selected gambling venues. If you do not provide this information, you will be unable to participate in the Scheme.
- Your personal information is required for the Scheme pursuant to the Gaming Control Act 1993.
- Your personal information will not be made public and will be used for the primary purpose for which it is collected. It will be used by the Liquor and Gaming Branch, Department of Treasury and Finance to manage the Scheme and may be used for other purposes permitted by the Act. These purposes include confidential disclosure of your personal information to:
 - contractors and agents of the Department of Treasury and Finance and the Tasmanian Liquor and Gaming Commission, as well as other bodies involved with the Scheme. These include Gamblers Help, venue operators, casino operators and licensed providers.
 - other public sector staff, for example database managers, where necessary for the efficient storage, distribution and use of the information.
- Statistical and management information to do with the Scheme may be made publicly available, but individuals will not personally be identified.
- Personal information will be managed in accordance with the Personal Information Protection Act 2004 and may be accessed by the individual to whom it relates on request to the Department of Treasury and Finance. You may be charged a fee for this service. Further information on the Department's policies in relation to the Personal Information Protection Act can be found at <http://www.treasury.tas.gov.au/pip>.
